Respected Comrade Kim Jong Un Goes to Polls for Electing SPA Deputy and Encourages Workers at Chonsong Youth Coal Mine

The election of Deputies to the 15th Supreme People's Assembly of the DPRK took place at all the constituencies across the country on March 15, when the whole country was overflowing with the people's joy of greeting the historic day which would mark an occasion for further consolidating the people-centred socialist system of Korean style and provide a powerful sovereign guarantee for the comprehensive development of the state.

Kim Jong Un, General Secretary of the Workers' Party of Korea and President of the State Affairs of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, visited the Chonsong Youth Coal Mine under the Suncheon Area Youth Coal-mining Complex to vote at the polling station of Sub-constituency No. 48 of Constituency No. 150 for the election of a Deputy to the SPA.

He headed for the polling station, extending warm greetings to the coal miners for increased coal production to positively contribute to the growth and development of the national economy with pure loyalty to the Party and the revolution, the country and the people and with gem-like patriotism.

He was courteously greeted by Ri Kyong Chol, chief secretary of the South Phyongan Provincial Committee of the WPK, and leading officials of the Suncheon Area Youth Coal-mining Complex and the Chonsong Youth Coal Mine.

Accompanying him were Kim Jae Ryong, Ri Il Hwan, Kim Tok Hun, Kim Yo Jong and other senior officials of the Party and the government.

Comrade Kim Jong Un received a ballot from the chairman of the election committee and voted for Jo Chol Ho, manager of the Chonsong Youth Coal Mine under the Suncheon Area Youth Coal-mining Complex, who was a candidate Deputy for the SPA.

As he met and had a conversation with the candidate, he warmly encouraged him, hoping that he would faithfully discharge his responsibility and duty as a genuine representative of the people, a person in direct charge of activities of State power and a political activist, deeply mindful of the fact that the trust and expectations of the coal miners and other residents there are just the earnest requests of the country and the people.

Then he made a historic speech to the voters of the coal mine.

All the participants were deeply moved by the impassioned speech of Comrade Kim Jong Un who most highly appreciated the pure conscience and unassuming efforts of the coal miners before the country and the times and unveiled a brilliant blueprint for transforming the coal mines across the country.

When he finished his speech, they raised enthusiastic cheers, offering their boundless thanks to the outstanding leader of the Korean revolution and the benevolent father of the people.

He learned about the conditions and production of the coal mine.

Underscoring again the importance of the coal-mining industry's mission and role in ensuring the stable and sustainable development of the national economy, he said that to shore up the coal-mining front is a key of strategic significance not only in the implementation of the new five-year plan but also in the long-term development of the country. Then he continued:

As it is necessary to raise good crops for the living of the people, it is needed to increase coal production for the running of a state. The Party and the state should attach importance to the production of coal, the food of industry, and increase state investment to it. Building up the Chonsong Youth Coal Mine into a standard one, where mechanization and informatization of the work inside its pits are realized, is a starting point of the long-term project to transform the material and technical foundations of all the coal mines across the country and the working conditions of coal miners.

Whenever I look back upon the arduous journey of our victorious struggle, I have first thought of the unassuming efforts of coal miners and always felt thankful to them. We should spare nothing for the coal miners. It is the firm determination of the Party Central Committee to turn, during its ninth term, all the coal-mining villages into modern, cultured villages and towns just like the Komdok area which has been ideally transformed in recent years. A short-, medium- and long-term strategy for realizing it will be discussed at an earlier date.

That day, Comrade Kim Jong Un had a photo taken with the coal miners, labour innovators and officials of the Chonsong Youth Coal Mine in commemoration of his visit to the mine.

When the photo-taking was over, the enthusiastic cheers the participants raised again looking up to him, shook the mountains of the Chonsong area.

Warmly encouraging the coal miners full of great excitement, Comrade Kim Jong Un expressed his expectation and belief that the workers of the coal mine would glorify the first year of implementing the decisions of the Party Congress with proud successes in increased production in the redoubled and soaring spirit, filled with fresh confidence and optimism.

The workers of the Chonsong Youth Coal Mine, deeply moved by the strong passion and affection, warm love and trust of the great father, firmly pledged to demonstrate their absolute support to the decisions of the Ninth Congress of the WPK through patriotic efforts for increased coal production and reliably guarantee the prosperity and development of the country, bearing deeper in mind the sense of honourable mission of defending an outpost for the development of the self-supporting economy.

Comrade Kim Jong Un's visit to the Chonsong Youth Coal Mine marked a historic occasion that declared a fresh start for civilization and modernization of the coal-mining industry with the final breaking with its technical and cultural backwardness, and an important political occasion that injected great vitality into the dynamic advance of the state towards its comprehensive development.

Kim Jong Un, General Secretary of the Workers' Party of Korea and President of the State Affairs of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, gave on-site guidance on March 16 at the Memorial Museum of Combat Feats at the Overseas Military Operations under construction.

Accompanying him were members of the WPK Central Military Commission, senior officials of the Party Central Committee and generals of the Korean People's Army.

He was greeted on the spot by commanding officers of the military units involved in the project and officials of the design and creation institutions.

The project is now under way at 93 percent of the total proportion.

Going round the interior of the memorial museum, the heroes' cemetery area, the captured weapons exhibition area and other places of the construction site, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un learned about the finishing of the project and the installation of sculptures and symbolic memorials.

Pointing out some irrational elements in the interior of the museum, he clarified the direction of correcting them and gave detailed instructions on ensuring the highest quality in finishing the project.

He stressed once again the important significance of this project, saying that the memorial museum should be an ensemble and an integration of our architecture and fine art creation.

The museum will be inaugurated on the occasion of the first anniversary of the liberation of Kursk, he said, giving instructions that the service personnel, designers and creative artists, involved in the noble work for recording in history forever the matchless bravery and mass heroism displayed by our soldiers at overseas military operations, should successfully complete the project as an immortal sacred sanctuary with the solemn reverence of all the people.

Choe Hyon Conducts Test-fire of Strategic Cruise Missiles

Amid the continued tests of operational efficiency of the destroyer Choe Hyon of the Navy of the Korean People's Army, a strategic cruise missile test-fire was conducted again on March 10.

The respected Comrade Kim Jong Un oversaw the test-fire online.

He said that the test-fire on the destroyer was aimed at evaluating the reliability of the national integrated control system of strategic weapons and the warship's detection and weapon systems and verifying the combat effectiveness of the integrated combat system in technical aspects, and at demonstrating the Navy's strategic attack posture and making sailors well versed in the relevant military actions in other aspects.

The data on targets was transmitted to the destroyer Choe Hyon, the launch was approved according to relevant procedures and strategic cruise missiles were launched simultaneously to hit several targets.

The missiles flew along the flight trajectory set in the sky above the West Sea of Korea for 10 116s to 10 138s and hit the separate island targets.

Comrade Kim Jong Un expressed his great satisfaction over the verified reliability of the national integrated control system of strategic weapons and superiority of the vessel's integrated combat system.

He gave important instructions on reexamining in a Korean way the configuration of weapon systems of the destroyer to be built in the future in the light of the actual requirements in military aspects and from the development-oriented view.

Underlining the need to examine the military efficiency of the naval automatic gun installed on the warship in line with the specific conditions of the country, he expressed his view that it would be more advantageous to enhance the anti-warship and strategic attack capabilities in keeping with the vessel's operational features by equipping high-speed warships of below 3 000 tonnage with such naval automatic guns and additionally installing supersonic weapon systems, instead of those guns, on the 5 000-tonnage and 8 000-tonnage destroyers in the future.

He stressed the need to examine the plan for organizing such Korean-style weapon systems and apply them first to the third destroyer to be built.

Noting that it is a very important strategic task to maintain and expand the powerful and reliable nuclear war deterrent, he said:

“The components of our war deterrent are now being included in the very sophisticated operational system in an effective and accelerated manner continuously and the country’s nuclear forces have made a switch to the phase of multifaceted operation.

“Important successes have been recently made in putting the strategic and tactical strike means on a practical basis and deploying them for an actual war.

“Such successes have updated the readiness of our army for strategic action and enhanced the confidence in it.

“Our belief and confidence based on those verified capabilities make it possible for us to take the initiative in the military activities in national defence and will play an important role in further developing our potential.”

He stressed that the DPRK’s offensive weapon systems undergoing constant development constitute an indispensable factor thoroughly for self-defence.

He set forth a series of important tasks for rapidly increasing the fighting efficiency of the Navy, including those of delivering the destroyer to the Navy within the set time by finishing the assessment of its manoeuvrability and the operational capabilities of its other weapon systems, namely, anti-air, anti-submarine and torpedo weapon systems, of stepping up the building of another destroyer to finish it before the founding anniversary of the Workers’ Party of Korea this year and of reinforcing the existing infrastructure of the naval base and building a new one.

KPA Long-range Artillery Sub-unit in Western Area Conducts Firepower Strike Drill

A long-range artillery sub-unit of the Korean People's Army in a western area conducted a firepower strike drill on March 14.

Enlisted in the drill were twelve 600mm-calibre ultra-precision multiple rocket launchers and two artillery batteries.

Kim Jong Un, General Secretary of the Workers' Party of Korea and President of the State Affairs of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, oversaw the drill on the spot.

He stated briefly that the drill was aimed at making the army do what it should do.

He said that the drill would make the forces hostile to the DPRK, the enemies within the 420km striking range, feel uneasy, with the power stronger than the aimed one, and give them a deep understanding of the destructive power of our tactical nuclear weapon.

He affirmed that the drill is a regular one for checking the DPRK's defensive posture and war deterrent and such drill will be frequently conducted in the future, too.

He authorized Full General Jang Chang Ha, general director of the Missile Administration accompanying him, to command the drill, and came out to the launching position to give instructions on the firing method.

At the central command post, Jang Chang Ha gave an order to open fire.

The launched rockets battered the target island in the East Sea of Korea 364.4km away with the accuracy of 100 percent, proving once again the destructive capability of their concentration strike and the system's military value.

After overseeing the firing drill, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un spoke highly of the soldiers of the artillery sub-unit for being prepared for skilfully handling the state-of-the-art multiple rocket launcher system. Then he once again praised the combat performance of the 600mm-calibre ultra-precision multiple rocket launchers, saying:

"It is indeed a very deadly yet attractive weapon.

"Worldwide, there exists no tactical weapon that surpasses the performance of this weapon system.

"This will be so in the coming few years.

"Certainly, however, we will never mark time till that time, being content with this.

"I always hold our defence scientists in respect and appreciate them for developing such a weapon system.

"As I have already stated, our powerful attacking capability is, in effect, for defending ourselves.

"It is because the most powerful attacking capability precisely means a reliable defence capability.

"It is, in the true sense of the word, a means of deterring war.

"But in case such deterrents of a defensive nature do not prevent foreign forces from launching an armed provocation or invading our state to jeopardize the security of its sovereignty, they will immediately be used for their second mission, i.e., as a means of massive, destructive strike.

“As I have said several times, if this weapon is used, the opponent’s military infrastructure within its striking range can never survive.

“Our Party and the government of the Republic will maintain durable peace by means of powerful military capabilities.

“Peace is something that should be defended rather than desired.”

Comrade Kim Jong Un stressed the need for the army units at all levels to organize and wage high-intensity practical manoeuvres under simulated conditions of an actual war, true to the Party’s policy of bringing about a radical turn in training, and maintain their full response posture to thoroughly frustrate any provocation by the enemies with overwhelmingly great power.

Respected Comrade Kim Jong Un Oversees Coordinated Offensive Tactical Drill of Infantry and Tank Sub-units

Kim Jong Un, General Secretary of the Workers' Party of Korea and President of the State Affairs of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, visited Pyongyang Training Base No. 60 under the Capital City Defence Corps of the Korean People's Army on March 19 to oversee a coordinated offensive tactical drill of infantry and tank sub-units.

The tactical drill was aimed at making the tactical sub-units, which expand successes in their attack through an assault by tanks and infantry after striking, raiding and occupying the enemy's anti-armour defence line, get familiar with the coordination order and combat methods during offensive action.

Involved in the drill were a company of a cavalry regiment—the main armoured unit belonging to the reserve operational group of the General Staff—and special operations sub-units.

The respected Comrade Kim Jong Un said that he came to clearly recognize that the principle of intensifying practical training under simulated conditions of an actual war has been strictly adhered to recently in the training of tactical units, too, as he saw all sub-units in the drill share real-time information and ensure cooperation in combat and unity of action under various unexpected and extremely difficult combat situations to break through the enemy's strong anti-armour defence line by means of powerful strike, speedy raid and occupation and high mobility.

Watching with great pleasure the tanks violently make a charge, rocking the earth, he expressed satisfaction that the majestic appearance of the tanks imposingly advancing forward encapsulates the inherent bravery and pluck of the KPA.

Saying that the new-type main battle tank, which made its appearance, demonstrating its amazing combat performance again, is really superior, he noted this is unequalled in the world in the striking power and mobility and, especially, self-defensive capacity. Our army will be equipped with the most powerful tanks, he said with pride.

That day, there were various tests for examining the active self-defensive system of the new-type main battle tank.

The tanks intercepted all the anti-tank missiles and drones attacking them from different positions and directions to clearly prove the efficiency of their superior active self-defensive system.

Acquainting himself again with their combat performance after the tactical drill was over, Comrade Kim Jong Un said:

"We have attained great successes and progress in modernizing the tank-building industry.

“This new-type main battle tank, a proud fruit of the strategic plan the Party Central Committee worked out and has resolutely pressed ahead with for the second revolution in the armoured forces, encapsulates our-style technology of armoured weapon system.

“The development of the tank’s core technology, to which we directed special efforts, has taken seven years.

“The Party Central Committee, through the role of its guidance team, and the Academy of Defence Science, through its correct specialist guidance, have opened a brighter prospect for the tank-building industry.

“The armour structure and power system designs, integrated automatic remote-controlled strike system, electronic warfare complex, guided missile and active self-defensive system have remarkably improved. All the components of this tank are completely suitable for ensuring its powerful striking capability, improving its survivability and providing convenience for the service by its crew.

“In developing this tank, we have attached special importance to improving the rate of its survival.

“Applied to this tank are various special technologies developed for improving its survival rate, and it is equipped with a mobile self-defensive complex capable of reliably destroying such attacking air targets as different kinds of anti-tank guided missiles and UAVs at a high level of precision through a system of detecting threats from all directions. Therefore, I am sure that no armoured weapon with as strong self-defensive capability as that of this tank exists in the world.

“In particular, it is a great change that our armoured forces that were ineffective during night operations have completely overcome their combat limitations.

“The combat performance of our main battle tank is incomparably superior.

“From now on, our ground forces will be equipped with these superior tanks extensively, and our armoured forces developed onto a higher stage.”

He stressed, in particular, that it is important to pay careful attention to the issue of steadily improving the main battle tank’s performance so that it can hold a leading position and make good use of its combat value in the battlefields in conformity with the trend of ever-developing modern warfare.

Highly appreciating that all the drills have recently been turned to taking and adopting scientific and practical forms and methods for an actual war, he said that the KPA units at all levels should achieve rapid successes in completing war preparations by giving full play to their soaring spirit without letup.

As I have repeatedly stressed, the KPA should organize and carry out training in the atmosphere of actual war and training competitions aimed at improving the combat efficiency, more intensively and more frequently, so that it can swiftly and exactly perform any combat missions under different situations in contingency, he said. He called for taking a revolutionary measure for further intensifying the training revolution.

Commanding officers of the KPA and the combatants involved in the tactical drill pledged to achieve proud successes in perfecting combat preparations and unsparingly dedicate their sweat and efforts to increasing their combat efficiency and thus remain loyal to Comrade Kim Jong Un who left his immortal and sacred imprints in the training ground, bestowing great honour upon them, inspiring them with a high spirit and boosting the militant will and matchless bravery of the KPA.

Respected Comrade Kim Jong Un Inspects Major Munitions Factory

Kim Jong Un, General Secretary of the Workers' Party of Korea and President of the State Affairs of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, inspected a major munitions factory under the Second Economy Commission on March 11 to learn about its munitions production.

The respected Comrade Kim Jong Un learned about the start of the production of new pistols at the factory according to the approved design, examined and ratified by the Central Military Commission of the WPK on February 19, 2025.

Saying that the factory plays a very important role in increasing the combat efficiency of the army, public security forces and militia forces as it takes full charge of the production of pistols and other portable firearms, he stressed the need for the factory to expand its production capacity in a far-sighted way, and set a high level of modernization of production lines and cultured production practices in conformity with the demand, requirements and standards specified by the Party and achieve it in a responsible manner.

He urged the Second Economy Commission to organize the economic work well in order to produce weapons of fully guaranteed quality in a serial way by decisively raising the level of technical equipment of major munitions industry enterprises, establishing strict quality control regulations and order and supplying materials and cooperative products in a planned way.

He stressed once again the need for all the munitions industry enterprises under the Second Economy Commission to organize and conduct the work for establishing a cultured way of production and life at a more developed stage and continue to create model standards.

That day, he visited the shooting gallery of the factory to acquaint himself with the combat performance of the new-type pistol that went into production.

Noting that he had received a report from the Ministry of National Defence and the General Staff on the unanimous impression that the new-type pistol is superior in the structural functions, accuracy of hitting, concentration and combat utility, he said with satisfaction that he could personally see a really excellent pistol developed there.

He clarified his view on the opinion of the Second Economy Commission with regard to the issue of additionally establishing a new production line at the factory during the period of the five-year plan for the development of national defence, and gave important instructions to that end.

He emphasized that the new production line should be established at a high level to be a model of modernization of the country's munitions industry.

He said that the plan for modernization of munitions factories in the new five-year plan period and the budget bill for immediate modernization of three major munitions industry enterprises would be deliberated at an enlarged meeting of the Central Military Commission of the WPK to be convened in April.

Repeatedly expressing his satisfaction over the development and production of the excellent pistol, he offered thanks to the officials, technicians and workers of the factory.

The history of the 20th century records the undying feats performed by President Kim Il Sung for the cause of global independence.

His whole life was the days of energetic leadership in which he led the Korean revolution to victory and devoted himself to accomplishing the cause of independence for mankind.

In the 1980s the imperialists and reactionaries were more vicious in their moves to check the struggle of the world progressive peoples who were advancing along the road of independence against all sorts of domination and subjugation.

At that time, President Kim Il Sung put forward the policy of realizing global independence.

In order to achieve global independence, it is necessary to establish an equal international order based on independence against the imperialists' domination and subjugation, oppose aggression and war, defend world peace and security, frustrate the imperialists' moves for division and alienation and strengthen the friendship and solidarity of the world people, he said.

He set forth the slogan "The World People Advocating Independence, Unite!" and encouraged the progressive mankind to strengthen unity and solidarity and dynamically advance along the road of independence.

He developed the friendly and cooperative relations through his state visits to several socialist countries and invited the heads of party and state and other leading officials of socialist countries to the DPRK to further develop the relations of friendship, unity and cooperation.

From the first days of the non-aligned movement's appearance in the arena of history, he paid deep attention to its development. He made sure that the DPRK expanded and developed the friendly and cooperative relations with the non-aligned countries in all fields of politics, the economy and culture, and expressed firm solidarity with various progressive measures taken by these countries in the drive for creating a new life and encouraged them in their struggle.

When the non-aligned movement was undergoing grave trials due to the schemes of the imperialist and dominationist forces to divide it, he saved it from crisis and put it on a correct track.

He saw to it that the developing countries including African countries were given active assistance both in the struggle for national liberation in colonies and when they entered the stage of building a new society.

In the early 1990s when the imperialists and reactionaries were clamouring about the end of socialism, taking advantage of the collapse of socialism in the former Soviet Union and other socialist countries in Eastern Europe, he met heads of state and government and the leaders of the parties of different countries. He explained the root cause of the collapse of socialism in different countries and the experience of socialist construction in his country based on the

With an ennobling sense of internationalist obligation and comradesly love, the President treated those who shared the same intention on the road of global independence as genuine comrades and friends, irrespective of political views and religious beliefs.

Korean People's Revolutionary Army, First Revolutionary Armed Forces

In the darkest period when Korea was under the military occupation by the Japanese imperialists, President Kim Il Sung founded the Korean People's Revolutionary Army on April 25, 1932 by enlisting progressive workers, peasants and patriotic young people to fight against the Japanese imperialists and for their national independence and people's liberation.

It was a historical event that brought about a fresh turning point in the Korean people's revolutionary struggle, as well as a great declaration signalling the birth of the Juche-type revolutionary armed forces, the first of its kind in the country.

With the founding of the KPRA, the Korean people realized their long-cherished desire to have their own revolutionary armed forces fighting against the aggressive forces of the imperialists and for the country's independence and national dignity, and the glorious history of the genuine revolutionary armed forces struggling to accomplish the revolutionary cause of Juche began.

Thanks to his energetic guidance, the camp with a history of nearly 80 years was transformed into a comprehensive cultural and recreation base and a medical treatment centre, presenting an aspect of regional development.

The camp is furnished with all the conditions for spa treatment and recuperation.

The first places the holidaymakers go to are the outdoor spa baths of various types.

Taking a bath here filled with the fragrance of pines all year round is a rewarding experience that cannot be enjoyed anywhere else.

There are indoor spa bath spaces furnished with high pressure water massage devices. Here doctors give medical service to the patients.

The nocturnal view of the camp is as spectacular as that in daytime.
